August, 2021 UPDATE: Google (and accomplices) Denial of Service attacks reach 50 million page requests in August; Facebook Disables GolfTraxx application integrated with website due to website responsiveness and doesn't reconnect our app; COMCAST continues to DENY all involvement despite irrefutable proof of its repeated involvement

The above screenshot supplied by Cloudflare shows specifically the 56 million requests received by GolfTraxx.com during the month of August, 2021.

50 million of these requests were attacks. Cloudflare tweeted that it had blocked nearly 25 million malicious requests in August, 2021. Another 25 million were part of large Denial of Service Attack requests against our site from IP addresses based in Finland, France, Russian Federation, Brazil, and

USA (but likely owned by Google, Amazon, Microsoft, and COMCAST).

The screenshot shows a website interface with a dark-themed Twitter feed overlay. The website background includes a 'Top Traffic Countries / Region' table, a 'Share Your Stats' section, and a 'Contact' section. The Twitter feed overlay shows tweets from @golftraxx, including statistics on SSL requests served and malicious requests blocked. A table on the right side of the overlay shows traffic data.

Country / Region	Traffic
United States	48,628
Germany	15,842
France	9,345
United Kingdom	7,455
Canada	5,477

Bytes saved: 27... attacks blocked: 37,670,854

Some may also have been non-routable IP addresses as those used in previous COMCAST main-in-the-middle attacks on my home network). The link to the report containing the actual data which has enabled regulators (and others) to run the same packet scan analysis from the exact same raw data that we performed on my home network.

This data unequivocally documents the participation of the corporations as alleged. Regulators should be using this report (and the data supplied by Cloudflare about the corporate owned IP's making massive requests to our site specifically for the purpose of disproving COMCAST's false representations maintained by its office of executive escalations about no involvement. The backdoor access through my home network demonstrated here is IN FACT how it was possible for them to repeatedly and illegally attack and destroy data for thousands of golf courses in our database.

During Denial-of-Service attacks on websites, the websites are sometimes unable to respond to requests due to the massive numbers of requests being made on the server(s). As shown, this was the case in August, 2021 for a period of several days during which the site was repeatedly slammed with millions of requests in short 2-3 hour periods.

As a result Facebook restricted the GolfTraxx app integration reporting that it was having performance problems during login to Facebook.

We provided regulators, and Facebook (and Google and COMCAST and Microsoft and Amazon) evidence of these attacks but are still waiting for responses from all of them.

Facebook still has done nothing to restore our application. The login page has been requested 56,000 times in the past month.

Meanwhile, GolfTraxx continues to update hole and course maps and scorecards and flyovers for courses around the world. Close to 30,000 courses in 105 countries have been mapped and reconciled to scorecard (within a yard per hole!). If we don't yet have your course mapped, or scorecard needs updating, or what we have already needs an update, we hope you will join our efforts to keep golf out of the greedy hands of the world's largest and most profitable tech corporations who have shown themselves to be far more driven by greed and monopolistic practices and clearly willing to act outside the laws of our nation and prefer to operate like mobsters and organized crime syndicates.

We have of course demanded regulators to take proper legal actions against these corporations demonstrated unequivocally to have participated.

As always, thanks to everyone for taking time to check out a course or two. We are reaching “personal bests” for golfraxx.com every day, despite organized crime members doing its best to destroy golfraxx!

Enjoy and wishing everyone great golfing!
